

Contents

Acknowledgments xi

Introduction. Bearing Witness: Reading the Narrative of the African American Body 1

The Call

- One. Imag(in)ing the Body Wounded: Bodily Inscriptions and Initiation Rites in America's Social Discourse 19
- Two. Whip-scarred and Branded: The Ancestors Speak on the Slave
Condition 35

The Response

- Three. Bodies of Texts: Literal and Figurative Visions of History in Sherley Anne Williams's Dessa Rose 61
- Four. Dis-Membered to Re-Member: Bodies, Scars, and Ritual in Toni Morrison's Beloved 81
- Five. "Walking Wounded": The Urban Experience in Ann Petry's
The Street 111
- Six. Fingering the Fissures of the Black Male Psyche: Wright and Ellison Revisited 138
- Coda. Awakenings: A Personal Odyssey 158

Bibliography 163

Index 181