

BARBARA SCHWERDTFEGER

Ethics in Postmodern Fiction

Donald Barthelme
and
William Gass

Universitätsverlag
WINTER
Heidelberg

Table of Contents

	Preface	ix
I	Ethics in Postmodern Fiction	1
1	Historical Framework.....	1
1.1	Introduction	1
1.2	Postmodern Fiction	3
1.3	The Moral Turn of Postmodernism.....	6
2	Ethics	14
2.1	Definition of Ethics	14
2.2	Postmodern Ethics.....	15
2.3	Aristotelian Ethics	28
3	Ethical Criticism of Literature	30
3.1	Ethics in Literary Criticism.....	30
3.2	A Glance into the History of Ethical Criticism.....	31
3.3	The Reemergence of Ethical Criticism	40
4	Contemporary Theory of Ethical Criticism	45
5	Postmodern Literature and Ethics	53
5.1	Reality and Rationality – Chaos and Order	57
5.2	The Ineffable and Religion	58
5.3	Language, Form and Structure.....	59
5.4	Sexuality	68
II	Donald Barthelme	73
1	Donald Barthelme and Ethics	73
1.1	Introduction	73
1.2	Relevant Texts? Donald Barthelme's Fiction Between Self-Centered Experimentation and Social Criticism.....	76
2	Analyses of Short Stories	81
2.1	Reality and Rationality – Chaos and Order	82
2.2	The Ineffable and Religion	108
2.3	Language, Form and Structure.....	126
2.4	Sexuality	141
3	Conclusion: Ethics in Donald Barthelme's Short Fiction.....	144

III	William Gass	149
1	William Gass and Ethics	149
1.1	Introduction	149
1.2	Metaphorical Relation between World and Art.....	156
2	Analyses of Gass' Fiction.....	158
2.1	Reality and Rationality – Chaos and Order	159
2.2	Sexuality	183
2.3	Language, Form and Structure.....	188
2.4	The Ineffable and Religion	205
2.4.1	The Ineffable, or: The Other Order	205
2.4.2	Love	209
2.4.3	Religion	211
3	Conclusion: Ethics in the Works of William Gass	217
IV	Conclusion.....	223
	Works Cited.....	231