
Joyce and Lacan

Reading, writing, and psychoanalysis

Daniel Bristow

Contents

	Figures	vii
	Acknowledgements	viii
	Prefatory Remark	ix
1	James Joyce, in and out of analysis	1
	On all sides, sheeting	1
	Hear the other side, see the other side	8
	'Translate your name into German': Joyce and the Tweedledee and Tweedledum of Freud and Jung	15
	The old father and the novel artificer	24
2	Was Joyce mad? not by a transparent sheet . . .	39
	Joycean ontology	39
	Irreducible antagonism	40
	The fall	44
	Joycean sanity	46
	Transparency	46
	Opacity	55
3	From Joyce-the-symptom to the sinthome	65
	Joycean singularity	65
	Symptom	68
	Sinthome	79
4	Joyce's knots: death and sex before the Wake	103
	Knots	103
	Joycean thanatology → Joycean sexuality	106
	Cessation	107
	Ricorsi	114

5	Waking the read: the indelible sigla of Finnegans Wake	125
	Reading the Wake: writing 125
	About to write a letter: a 139
	Waking the read: reading 151
6	The object meaning raised to the dignity of the Thing	169
	Post-Joycean psychoanalysis 169
	Post-Joycean reading 171
	Post-Joycean writing 176
	Index	183

Figures

Key: < indicates that which position A in the unificatory/separatory principle splits its contents into.

1.1	Unificatory/separatory principle (A: Position A < 1: Position 1 , 2: Position 2)	4
1.2	B-C climactogram	31
3.1	Unificatory/separatory principle (A: Truth/The Fall < 1: Upon , 2: From)	66
3.2	Möbius strip	66
3.3	Unificatory/separatory principle (A: Joyce-the-Symptom < 1: Symptom , 2: Sinthome)	75
3.4	Diagram of the symptom, the sinthome , and the flypaper sheet	82
3.5	Freud's 'comb schema'	85
3.6	Saussure's 'discursive waves schema' (modified)	85
4.1	The Borromean knot ['Le næud borroméen']	104
4.2	The three rings, separated ['Les trois anneaux séparés']	104
4.3	The three rings tied by the sinthome ['Les trois anneaux lies par le sinthome']	105
4.4	The failed knot ['Le noeud raté']	105
4.5	The corrective ego ['L'ego correcteur']	106
5.1	The 'full graph'	132
5.2	Jack B. Yeats, About to Write a Letter (1935)	139
5.3	Multiaxial graph of signifier and signified	140
5.4	Derivation of the fantasy formula from the subject's representation between signifiers	143
5.5	Element of the 'full graph', showing the objet petit a	144
6.1	Unificatory/separatory principle (A: Joyce's Writing < 1: Upon , 2: From)	169
6.2	Sliding scale between dumbfound (interdit) and flabbergast (soufflé)	172
6.3	Unificatory/separatory principle (A: das Ding < 1: envers , 2: endroit)	175