

African Women Writers and the Politics of Gender

By

Sadia Zulfiqar

Cambridge
Scholars
Publishing

TABLE OF CONTENTS

Acknowledgements	vi
Introduction: Saani Baat –Throwing Voice.....	1
When a Man Loves a Woman: Betrayal and Abandon(ship) in Mariama Bâ's So Long a Letter (1980) and Scarlet Song (1981).....	17
“It is Immoral for a Woman to Subjugate Herself. She should be Punished”: Changing Concepts of Motherhood and Marriage in the Fiction of Buchi Emecheta	44
Women at War: The Nigerian Civil War in Buchi Emecheta's Destination Biafra (1982) and Chimamanda Ngozi Adichie's Half of a Yellow Sun (2006)	79
“I'm Not One of Them But I'm Not One of You”: Colonial Education and Tsitsi Dangarembga's Women.....	111
Do Muslim Women Need Saving Again?: Representations of Islam in Leila Aboulela's Fictions	141
Conclusion: Resisting Books of Not, Writing Books of Something.....	180
Bibliography	196