

The History of British Women's Writing, 1830–1880

Volume Six

Edited by Lucy Hartley

palgrave
macmillan

Contents

List of Figures	xi
Series Editors' Preface	xii
Acknowledgements	xiii
Notes on Contributors	xiv
Chronology by Pamela Wolpert	xviii
Introduction: The 'Business' of Writing Women Lucy Hartley	1
Part I Divisions of Writing
1 The Feminisation of Literary Culture Joanne Shattock	23
2 Gender, Authorship, and the Periodical Press Alexis Easley	39
3 The Professional Woman Writer Linda K. Hughes	56
Part II Reading Places
4 Mapping the Nation: Scotland and Britain Suzanne Gilbert	73
5 Representing Ireland Margaret Kelleher	91
6 Runaway Discourse: Women Write Slavery, Race, and Empire Cora Kaplan	107
7 Women Writers and the Provincial Novel Josephine McDonagh	125
8 Library Lives of Women Susan David Bernstein	143
Part III Writing Genres
9 Travel Writing Ella Dzelzainis	163
10 Religious Genres Julie Melnyk	178

11	Women Playwrights and the London Stage Sharon Aronofsky Weltman	196
12	Life Writing Valerie Sanders	212
13	Scientific and Medical Genres Claire Brock	229
Part IV Reading Women Writing Modernity
14	Creativity Alison Chapman	247
15	Sensation, Art, and Capital Lucy Hartley	264
16	Writing across the Class Divide Florence S. Boos	282
17	Friendship and Intimacy Jill Rappoport	303
18	Sympathy Carolyn Burdett	320
	Select Critical Bibliography	336
	Index	344